MPC President 'Bob' Faul Is Engrossed In Life Of Community, Development Of Human Resources

BY STEVE SHORE

When Dr. George Faul took on the responsibilities of the presidency of Monterey Peninsula College, he chose to settle in Carmel. "After 15 years in suburbia we wanted to make a complete environmental change, Carmel fits our needs perfectly. It gives our family some of the advantages that are uniquely Carmel's," he gave as his reasons for his residence here.

Although Dr. Faul has been on the Peninsula for only two years, he is deeply engrossed in community activities as well as in the many responsibilities of the presidency of a now flourishing community college.

Most recently, he was active in the fight against the Humble Oil and Refining Company. Although the company has announced it has abandoned plans to build an oil refinery at Moss landing, Dr. Faul is not totally convinced that the battle is over.

"The important thing now is that we must not let down our guard. I will feel secure about this situation only when Humble has returned their use permit to the county and not before," Dr. Faul commented.

He also feels that there is a growing danger that other so-called "dirty industries" will attempt to enter the area.

"I feel that in the future we will have to take vigorous action in order to prevent pollution of this area. To keep out undesirable industry we must promote clean industry. There must be real leadership in this field. We can't do the job by just sending out brochures. We have much to offer these clean industries."

Dr. Faul, discussing education, said, "I feel that we are overlooking much of the potential involved in the growth of the University of California at Santa Cruz. We should make the most of our educational resources."

"Bob" Faul is not the only member of his family who is active in the support of the natural and cultural assets of the community. His wife, Patricia, along with teaching fourth grade in Pacific Grove's Forest Grove School, is a new member of the Carmel Arts Commission and active in organizing the Camp Fire Girls in this area. She was formerly on the national board of the Camp Fire Girls. The Fauls have two children, Robert, 13, and Alison, nine years old. Their home is at Carmelo and Seventh.

When Dr. Faul took on the presidency of Monterey Peninsula College, he faced what one observer called a completely demoralized situation.

The faculty was in open revolt and the community had overwhelmingly turned down a MPC bond issue. MPC's buildings were overcrowded and falling apart. Why

Small Part Of Mission Tract Seeks To Annex

Thirty residents of the eastern section of the Mission Tract, including a former Mayor of Carmel who is the present chairman of the Monterey County Planning Commission, were allowed by the city council, last night, to take the first step on the 38-rung annexation ladder and their request to be allowed to become citizens of Carmel was referred to the planning commission for study and recommendations. On receipt of the commission's report, the council will decide on the desirability of adding the 35 and one-half lot section to the city.

The area from which the annexation request originated is contiguous to Santa Lucia Street, the southern limit of the city, and lies between Rio Road on the east and Dolores Street on the west. All lots in this particular part of the Mission Tract front either on Santa Lucia, Mission Street, Franciscan Way and Dolores Street except for one which faces Lasuen Drive and is in the same ownership as the contiguous lot to the north which faces Franciscan Way.

Brigadier General Robert P. Williams (USA Ret.), spokesman for the Mission tract group which seeks to join the city, told the council that the area under discussion constitutes "a small community which has consistently requested annexation" when this matter was brought up, most recently when annexation procedure involved the entire Mission Tract. He observed that this annexation move seems to have "bogged down for lack of enthusiasm" and residents of the area that presented the annexation request, last night, decided to proceed on their own.

Consequently, signatures were obtained from 28 out of a possible 40 signers, or 70 percent of the residents in the Mission Tract enclave.

Signers of the annexation request received by the council were Linn Mack, William N. Eklund, Esther M. Eklund, Agnes I. Trumbly, Hede Vasen, Clare D. Ringland, Paul A. Gliebe, Clarise Ann Cross, Mary Kirwan, Barbara Murray Williams, Robert P. Williams, Helen E. Arnold, Sarah McCloud Wedge, Walter E. McCloud, Gladys McCloud, William E. van der Sluis, Susan van der Sluis, Mary V. Rembolt, Florence H. Russell, Nell R. Applegate (by F. H. Russell), Keith B. Evans, (chairman of the county planning commission and a former Mayor of Carmel), Virginia Pope Evans, Phyllis W. Mahon, Elizabeth Pope Davis, John Parks Davis, Mr. and Mrs. Rutledge Bray, Helen Shutes, Milton H. Shutes, M.D. and Peggy Long.

One resident of the area, Richard B. Carr, told the council he opposed the annexation move.

Hostelry Tax Revenue Vital To Sunset, Civic Center Financing

BY MARJORY LLOYD

The City of Carmel has embarked on two major capital outlay projects. The first, acquisition of Sunset School for use as a municipal cultural and community center, was approved by registered voters when the $575,000 bond issue to finance the purchase of the school passed by an overwhelming majority in 1964. The second project, construction of a new police station, corporation yard and public works building (Phase I of Civic Center), was approved by a 3-2 vote of the city council on May 4.

Both projects are being financed from an estimated $100,000 a year accruing to the city from a four percent hostelry tax approved by the council in 1965.

Amortization of the Sunset Center bonds will be accomplished by a city council allocation of one-quarter of the annual hostelry tax revenue ($25,000) over a 25-year period. At the end of this period, interest at 3.119344 percent on the $575,000 bonds will have amounted to $273,687.50. Total cost of the purchase of Sunset Center, therefore, will be $848,687.50.

The council, considering the interest cost on the purchase of Sunset Center by general obligation bond financing, approved bank loan financing for payment of the $384,452 construction cost of the new police station, corporation yard and public works building. Had the council favored a general obligation bond issue of $400,000

How We Are Paying For Civic Center

Phase I of the civic center two financing procedures were possible —a bond issue and a cash-tax interim loan and repayment plan, both financed by hostelry tax income.

The $575,000 Sunset Center acquisition bonds approved by the electorate in 1964 will be amortized over a 25-year period. By the time the final payment is made on the Sunset bonds, interest on the original sum borrowed at 3.-119344 percent will amount to $273,687.50.

A legal opinion is required by law on the validity of a bond issue. For the Sunset bonds, the city received a favorable opinion on the validity of the bonds from the San Francisco firm of Orrick, Dahlquist, Herrington and Sutcliffe. This legal firm is considered the top expert on municipal financing on the West Coast and is employed by the state attorney general's office when legal opinions are required on municipal financing.

The cost to the city of this firm's opinion on the validity of the Sunset bonds was $13,720.55, based on a fixed fee calculated on the total amount of the bond issue. In addition, a financial consultant, the firm of Stone and Youngberg, was required and the cost to the city of this service was $10,199.70. The bonds were purchased by the United Bank of California and the Bank of America National Trust acts as the city's paying agent for a fee of $100 a year.

Based on the Sunset bonds, the cost of a bond issue to finance the $384,452 construction of a new police station, corporation yard and public works facility—Phase I of the civic center—was estimated as follows: Amount of construction, $384,452; fee for legal opinion $11,-000; cost of financial consultant, $2,500. Total, $397,952.

For a bond issue, the latter sum would be rounded out to $400,000. Interest on this sum, if amortized like the Sunset bonds over a 25-year period, would amount to $190,000.

Were a special election called on the bond issue, this election was estimated to cost $800. If the bonds passed, a paying agent would be needed at a cost of $100 per year, totaling $2,500 over a 25-year period.

These expenditures would bring the estimated total cost of a bond issue to finance the $384,452 Phase I construction costs to $593,-300.

The cash-tax interim loan Phase I financing procedure is based on the $352,552 which the city has, in the bank drawing interest at 4.8 percent—plus the sale of the present police station and corporation yard site at Mission and Seventh for a sum not less than its appraised value, $90,000.

The city council, by a 3-2 vote, approved the cash-interim loan financing on May 4.

Therefore, following this financing procedure, in the 1966-67 fiscal year, the city will borrow approximately $280,000 from a bank which signified it would make the loan at a 2.7 interest rate. This loan is proposed to be amortized by payment of $50,000 a year, or the 50 percent of the estimated $100,000 hostelry tax annual income allocated to improvement of city property according to the general plan.

In the 1966-67 budget now being prepared, the sum of $50,000 will be budgeted for such a payment to the bank on June 30, 1967. Also budgeted, for the same purpose, will be a loan of $25,000 from funds accruing in the coming fiscal year to the greenbelt reserve fund, or one-quarter of the 1966-67 hostelry tax revenue.

The budgeted $75,000, plus the $352,552 presently in the bank drawing 4.8 percent interest, totals $427,552, or a sufficient amount to pay for the entire $384,452 Phase I construction on June 30, 1967.

The 2.7 rate of interest, signified by a bank willing to make the $280,000 loan, will be more than covered by the 4.8 percent interest paid to the city on the funds it has in its time reserve accounts, or savings accounts.

However, were such a total payment to be made, the city would be without reserve funds, which is not good financing. So on July 1, 1967, the city will borrow sufficient funds to replace its reserves for the 1967-68 fiscal year—$230,-000.

This amount will be less than the previous year's loan because one $50,000 payment on the amortization will have been made from non-reserve hostelry tax funds budgeted for this purpose in the 1966-67 fiscal year.

Similarly, in the following years, each annual loan will be reduced by $50,000 until the total cost of Phase I of the civic center is paid for on June 30, 1971.

If the present police station site is sold previous to the June 30, 1967, repayment date, the budgeted greenbelt fund borrowing will be repaid.

The sale of the police station would not only repay the amount borrowed from the greenbelt fund, but also would decrease the sum to be borrowed the following year. In any year that the police station is sold, similar decrease would result.

If the police station is not sold, the cash-tax interim loan financing will still carry the cost of Phase I construction.

In a letter to City Administrator Hugh Bayless, the senior partner, George Herrington, of the legal firm of Orrick, Dahlquist, Herrington and Sutcliffe stated that the cash-tax interim loan financing procedure adopted by the city council in May "is entirely satisfactory from a legal as well as from a very practical standpoint."

Next week the Pine Cone will publish this letter and outline the perils to the taxpayer in both the Sunset general obligation bonds and the cash-tax interim loan financing procedure for Phase I of the civic center.

50 Years Ago in Carmel

—THIS WEEK—

FIREMAN'S BALL A BIG SUCCESS

A throng of dancers, not only from Carmel, but from Carmel Valley, Monterey, Watsonville and other towns, attended the first annual ball given by the Carmel Volunteer Fire Department at the Manzanita Theatre on Saturday evening.

Splendid music was furnished by the Cummings orchestra and not a detail that would in any way contribute to the enjoyment of the guests was overlooked by the very efficient committee in charge.

The fire department maintenance fund is considerably increased.

FOREST THEATER PLAYS

Four weeks of hard, earnest rehearsal have brought the two plays that are to open the Forest Theater season into excellent shape. Never before, during the six previous summers of local dramatic venture, has the public been offered such a splendid program as the one which will be presented on the evenings of July 1, 3, 4 and 5.

Following the first production of "Yolanda of Cyprus" on Saturday evening, members of the Forest Theater Society and members of the Arts and Crafts Club will tender a reception to Cale Rice Young, author of the play, and Alice Hagen Rice, his wife, who is a writer, at the Arts and Crafts Hall.

Winter Watts, the composer, has completed incidental music for "Yolanda" and Frederick Preston Search has a large orchestra rehearsing for both plays.

The second production is a children's play, "The Piper" by Josephine Preston Peabody. It is based on Browning's poem, "The Pied Piper of Hamelin." This play will be given on Tuesday and Wednesday.

BOYS' CLUB SHOW

What the residents and visitors have been looking forward to is to occur tonight. At the Manzanita Theatre, typical boys' entertainment will be given by the Columbia Park Boys who are in their third week of camping here. There is an unusually large number of talented boys in camp. Then, too, they have their own orchestra. Two one-act farces will be given in addition to many vaudeville acts and a cornet solo by eight-year-old Junior DeAvilla. Sousa pronounces him a comer.

Hostelry Tax Revenue Vital To Sunset, Civic Center Financing

BY MARJORY LLOYD

The City of Carmel has embarked on two major capital outlay projects. The first, acquisition of Sunset School for use as a municipal cultural and community center, was approved by registered voters when the $575,000 bond issue to finance the purchase of the school passed by an overwhelming majority in 1964. The second project, construction of a new police station, corporation yard and public works building (Phase I of Civic Center), was approved by a 3-2 vote of the city council on May 4.

Both projects are being financed from an estimated $100,000 a year accruing to the city from a four percent hostelry tax approved by the council in 1965.

Amortization of the Sunset Center bonds will be accomplished by a city council allocation of one-quarter of the annual hostelry tax revenue ($25,000) over a 25-year period. At the end of this period, interest at 3.119344 percent on the $575,000 bonds will have amounted to $273,687.50. Total cost of the purchase of Sunset Center, therefore, will be $848,687.50.

The council, considering the interest cost on the purchase of Sunset Center by general obligation bond financing, approved bank loan financing for payment of the $384,452 construction cost of the new police station, corporation yard and public works building. 'The Fantasticks' At Studio Is Most Commendable Production

BY DUKE EVERTS

Eight talented people are currently appearing at the Studio Theatre and Restaurant in a slice of life called "The Fantasticks." This play, with a Montague-Capulet complex in reverse, is one of the most appealing productions presented locally this year. A complete change of pace for local theatres, and somewhat off-beat, it is a most commendable production.

The Narrator, superbly portrayed by Terry Eby, proves that there is a little bit of the devil in everyone—and that if you look hard enough, you'll find it. Never have we seen such self-confidence on the local stage.

Rod Allison, surprised us with his ability to sing, and he does it very well, although a little nervous on opening night. It was his first starring role after nothing more than bit parts, walk-ons, and rather simple, undemanding roles. Coming up through the ranks at the Studio Theatre—we remember him from his first play only a few years ago—he has developed into an accomplished performer. Portraying The Boy, who had to find out the hard way what it is that makes a male a man, Rod Allison had the entire situation in the palm of his hand. He needn't have been nervous.

As Brubeck is called a musician's musician, Bob Lynn, portraying The Old Actor, who like so many people is only aware of himself and his own abilities, is a ham's ham. With excellent make-up, diction, deftness of movement and perfect timing, he made the entire play only seem better.

If we proceeded to credit each performer with as much praise as we would like, we'd take up an entire page of The Pine Cone. But we must point out that Anita Whitaker, the only lady on the stage, was completely aware of her role at all times. A beautiful young girl with a flare for drama, she could go a long way in the theatre if that is her desire. Paul Feiten, as The Boy's Father, and David L. Morris, as The Girl's Father, proved one thing—parents do not change in the eyes of their children, so beware.

The Mute, protrayed by Jim Sweeney, escaped my notice, I'm happy to say. That's not intended to be insulting. That is what he was supposed to do. Not once through the scene changes and handling of props did he disrupt the action on stage.

Keith Decker, as The Man Who Dies, does a death scene, the likes of which have not been seen since Eva coughed her way to heaven in "Uncle Tom's Cabin." For the first time in a long time, we enjoyed something that was overdone. It would not have been correct had it not been.

Mike Keller is the director of "The Fantasticks. He continuously does an excellent job. With amateurs, the director must work twice as hard.

Congratulations to the Evans family, the new owners of the Studio, who had enough foresight to present entertainment. If the following productions are as good as "The Fantasticks," they will find the trip to the bank very gratifying.

As a last word of praise, it was great to see talented Tom Fordham in his old blue suit back at his old familiar place at the piano.

Don't miss "The Fantasticks." If the play has a message, it must be that "life is a bowl of cherries." Of course, cherries are better and easier to eat when the pits have been removed. But the play shows that the pits are very necessary—if only to produce the next cherry trees.

White Oaks Theatre's 'Carousel' Provides Pleasant Summer Fare

BY DOROTHY REED

White Oaks Theatre, which opened its eighth summer season in Carmel Valley two weekends ago, has come a long way from the old barn behind the post office where the sky used to show through the ceiling. The present elegant theatre building has style and versatility. A high degree of professionalism marks productions, especially in the technical aspects of settings, lighting and costuming.

White Oaks' first offering of the season is "Carousel," Rodgers and Hammerstein's musical show about a merry-go-round barker, based on Ferenc Molnar's play, "Lilliom." Though the philosophical mood of the play is oversimplified and distorted in its translation to a small New England community, the songs are lively and tuneful, the dancing occasionally outstanding, and the costuming imaginative and colorful.

Two performers stand out: Barbara Gene Makinster for her dancing in the role of Louise, the unhappy teen-age daughter of the barker and his wife; and Tracy Carr for her singing as Nettie Fowler, an elderly aunt. When Miss Carr lets her voice out, the effect is electrifying, but it also produces the not entirely happy result of making every other voice in the company sound untrained and thin.

Michael S. Riordan is very personable in the role of Billy Bigelow, the barker, whose toughness is only a cover for gentler emotions that he is ashamed to own. Sandra Lundwall, as Julie, the girl who loves and understands him, makes a valiant try at a saccharine part. Katie Russell is charming as Julie's friend, Carrie, and Ken Bachtold provides some hilarious moments as Carrier's fiance, "darling Mr. Snow." Michael Collins proves that the prototype of Hell's Angels is a lot older than we had realized, although his intentions seem remarkably innocent in comparison with his costume.

Ron Stark is effective in the dual role of the starkeeper and the local doctor; Corliss Nickerson makes the most of her part as Mrs. Mullins, the harridan who owns the carousel and would like to own a share of Billy.

Under the direction of Chris Nance, a small number of musicians provide a much larger-sounding musical background, and the totality makes a very pleasant summer evening.

"Carousel" will continue Thursday through Sunday evenings until July 17. Curtain time is 8:30.

Carmel Writers Through The Years

In connection with the golden anniversary of Carmel's incorporation as a city, the Pine Cone announces a series of brief notes and listings on some of the important writers who lived here in the earlier days of the village, intimate friends of Herbert Heron who has furnished the material for these short records.

Herbert Heron founded the Forest Theater in 1910. He is a former Mayor of Carmel, Shakespeare scholar, poet and playwright. In 1918, he opened the first bookshop in Carmel, later built the Seven Arts Court at the corner of Lincoln and Ocean. He still maintains a bookshop in this building specializing in rare books and first editions, particularly of local writers.

MARY AUSTIN

One of the finest writers of her day was Mary Austin. She was born in Carlinville, Illinois, on September 9, 1868, and moved to California in 1886.

For 16 years, she lived on the desert and from this experience came the rare quality of such books as The Land of Little Rain, The Flock, and Lost Borders, as well as her voluminous Indian writings.

Mary Austin was married to Stafford W. Austin in 1891. They had one child. The marriage lasted five years.

Mrs. Austin visited Carmel in 1903 to gather material for Isidro, after which she returned to Inyo County. She came again in 1905, but left in 1907 for New York and Europe.

The Forest Theater was founded in 1910 and when Mary Austin came back to Carmel in 1913 she was so impressed with the beauty of the outdoor theater that she offered us her just finished poetic drama, "Fire." The world premiere of this work was in July of that year.

The following summer we produced her other Indian play, "The Arrow Maker" (July, 1914). It had previously been put on by the New Theater in New York, with a hopeful ending. Here we used the tragic ending which the author preferred.

In December, "The Man Who Didn't Believe in Christmas" was staged in the Arts and Crafts Hall.

Shortly after this Mrs. Austin left Carmel, to make her home in Santa Fe, New Mexico, where she lived till her death in August 13, 1934.

Isidro and Outland are stories of Carmel and vicinity. The Lands of the Sun contains some wonderful writing on Carmel and the Coast in the chapter entitled The Port of Monterey.

Her published books:

The Land of Little Rain, 1903; The Basket Woman, 1904; Isidro, 1905; The Flock, 1906; Santa Lucia, 1908; Lost Borders, 1909; Outland, 1910; The Arrow Maker, 1911; Christ in Italy, 1912; A Woman of Genius, 1912; The Green Bough, 1913; The Lovely Lady, 1913; California, 1914; Love and the Soul Maker, 1914.

The Man Jesus, 1915; The Ford, 1917; The Trail Book, 1918; The Young Woman Citizen, 1918; No. 26 Jayne Street, 1920; The American Rhythm, 1923; The Land of Journey's Ending, 1924; Everyman's Genius, 1925; A Small Town Man, 1925; The Lands of the Sun, 1927; The Children Sing in the Far West, 1928; Taos Pueblo, 1930; Amerindian Songs, 1930.

Starry Adventure, 1931; Experiences Facing Death, 1931; Earth Horizon, 1932; One Smoke Stories, 1934; Can Prayer Be Answered, 1934; The Mother of Felipe and Other Early Stories, 1950; One Hundred Miles on Horseback, 1963.

A Wedding In The Redwoods

The Chapel of St. Francis of the Redwoods in Big Sur was the setting for the marriage Saturday of Margaret Ann Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. George Smith of the Coast Route, to Thomas Scott Paine, son of Mrs. Delia Paine of Pebble Beach. Father Paul Redmond performed the mid-morning nuptual mass before a group of family members.

Escorted to the altar by her father, the bride wore a day-length dress of white silk crepe, topped with a white jacket to which she pinned a white orchid. A short white veil covered her hair.

Mary Teresa Smith, her sister's maid of honr, was attired in a pink peau de soie suit. Her teardrop veil and corsage of carnations were of the same color.

Stanley Wilkins of Pacific Grove served as best man.

Mrs. Smith attended her daughter's wedding in a blue brocade suit with which she wore matching accessories. The bridegroom's mother chose a yellow knit suit and yellow accessories.

After a reception at the home of the bride's parents, the couple left for a two-week honeymoon in Steamboat Springs, Colorado. They will make their home in Oakland until the bridegroom completes his tour of duty with the Navy. He is currently stationed at the Oak Knoll Naval Hospital.

Margaret, a graduate of Monterey High School, attended Monterey Peninsula College, as did her new husband. She is the sister of Mary, Patricia, Joan, Thomas, John and Richard Smith, all of the Sur Coast area.

Families Revisited

Cliff and Mary Cook returned last week from a veritable pilgrimage, covering more than 5,000 miles in the circle route which took them to visit members of both their families. The beauties of Arizona, particularly the Red Rock Canyon area, the Petrified Forest, Carlsbad Caverns, ghost towns, and such national monuments as Dinosaur and Mount Rushmore, as well as Rocky Mountain National Park, were among the places they enjoyed in their travels. A terminal and high point of their journey was El Reno, Oklahoma, where they spent a few days with Cliff's father, Richard C. Cook.

As to other relatives visited, the Pine Cone lost track after they drove to Wichita, Kansas to call on an aunt whom Cliff hadn't seen since he was ten—and that's a while ago. We do know that they also stayed with Mary's brother, Edd Cobean, and his family in Jamestown, North Dakota. The Cobeans, incidentally, were the Cooks' guests in Carmel this Spring.

Home again after a month of hot travel, Cliff and Mary were probably the only people here who were disappointed to find the sun blazing and tne days uncommonly warm.

New June Carmelites

June arrivals at Community Hospital added two newcomers to the local population. On June 7, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Marston of Carmel became parents of a girl, Lisa Diane.

Steven Lytton Hitchcock, born on June 20, is the new son of Mr. and Mrs. Jerome Hitchcock of Carmel Valley.

Jefferses Have Plans

Provided Donnan and Lee Jeffers find suitable tenants for Tor House before their scheduled sailing date, they'll leave in October to return to Ireland for another indefinite stay in that country.

Meanwhile, their oldest son, Lindsay, who has just completed his sophomore year at Occidental College, will spend a month in the Scandinavian countries before enrolling at the American College in Paris. His sister, Una, departs in September to enter the Bishop Foy School in Waterford, Ireland. Donan Jr. and young Robin will accompany their parents and will reenter the school they attended during the Jefferses' last visit to Ireland.

Moonlight Boat Trip

The S.P.O.T.s, a social group for single people over 30, enjoyed a clear moonlit night Saturday for the boat trip from Monterey to Moss Landing, where members and their guests spent an evening of dinner and dancing to the music of The Harborlights. A number of people from The Singles in Santa Barbara and Concord traveled to the Peninsula for the festive start of the Fourth of July weekend.

Continuing activities of the local group include sections for those interested in music, dancing, theatre, bowling and, latest, one in play reading. Barbecues and other social gatherings are planned. Single men and women over 30 who are interested in further information may phone Mrs. Claudine Van Vleet (624-8170).

Visitor From Zanzibar

An interesting, and charming, visitor here this summer is Miss Lawrenciana Fernandes of Zanzibar, who is the guest of Miss Melissa Harris of Carmel, a teacher in Seaside. The two young women first became acquainted through correspondence six years ago when Miss Harris sought "pen pals" for her students of French at a Napa school. Miss Fernandes, a Goan and a teacher in her native land, has been studying at New York State Teachers College in Buffalo.

Mrs. Viljoen Visiting

Ten grandchildren were on hand to greet Mrs. W. E. Viljoen when she arrived in June from Kailua, Hawaii, to spend the summer with the families of her children in Carmel Valley, the Ben Viljoens and the Thomas Bottaros. July 15, the former Carmelite will join her son's family, including the newest member, two-month old Lori, for a vacation at the family cabin at Lake Tahoe.

Fourth of July Wedding

It was a glorious Fourth of July for Judy Flanagan and David Goldschmidt, who were married in the garden of Mrs. Cynthia Williams' home at Carmel Highlands. The afternoon ceremony was read by the Reverend Robert O'Brien of the Unitarian Church of the Monterey Peninsula.

Judy, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Flanagan of New York City, was given in marriage by her brother, Michael.

She wore a gold sheath with a sheer pale blue overdress created from a gold-edged sari and carried a nosegay of yellow rosebuds. A spray of similar flowers adorned her hair.

The overcast day was brightened by the charming frocks and colorful flowers of the bride's six attendants. They were the bridegroom's sisters, Karen Kahn, who was maid of honor, and Ann and Ellen Goldschmidt, also Molly Williams, Janie Miller and Margaret "Midge" Chaffey.

Don Criley of Carmel Meadows was David's best man.

Judy, who has another brother, Peter, was employed as a registered nurse in Arabia before obtaining a degree in philosophy from Reed College, where she met her husband. Mrs. Flanagan flew from New York to attend her daughter's marriage.

The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Stephen Kahn of Carmel and Dr. Maure Goldschmidt of Portland. Robert Kahn of Carmel is his brother. Mr. and Mrs. Kahn were present for the ceremony, as were Dr. Goldschmidt and his family, who are leaving soon for Nairobi.

A graduate of Reed College, where he was a Phi Beta Kappa, David received his master's degree in mathematics, with a National Science Foundation Scholarship, at the University of Chicago last month and is now a consultant to Data Dynamics.

Carmel Highlands will be the couple's home until the end of summer, when David will begin his doctoral studies at the University of Chicago and Judy will teach in an elementary school.

To Teach In Mexico

Francesca Farr was home for a fortnight, busying herself with preparations for a new adventure. Her dream of teaching in some Latin American country, born several years ago when her brother, Sam, was a Peace Corps volunteer in Colombia and she traveled to see him and other relatives in South America, later visited Mexico, has born fruit. A determined young woman with a sympathetic insight into Latin American problems, Francesca has obtained a teaching position at the Colegio Americano in Mexico City. Her first-grade class will be constituted of a mixture—Mexican children, those of American Embassy personnel and other nationalities.

Francesca, daughter of Senator Fred Farr, graduated from Santa Catalina School and from the University of Arizona, where she was an education major. Although she was a guest this Spring in Mexico City of Ambassador and Mrs. Fulton Freeman, Francesca did no trading on her diplomatic connections but landed her new position entirely on her own.

Children's Play At White Oaks Theatre

A dramatic adaptation of Charles Dickens' tale, "The Magic Fish-Bone," opens for children on Sunday, 2:30 p.m., at White Oaks Theatre in Carmel Valley.

Dickens "collaborated" on the tale with Alice Rainbird, aged 7, in 1808. The play itself, which is told in narrative, song and dance, relates the events surrounding a young princess' possession of a fish-bone which will grant her one very special wish.

The play is being presented by the White Oaks Fantasy Players who are members of the summer resident company now performing Rodgers and Hammerstein's "Carousel" Thursday through Sunday nights and two one-act operas by Bizet and Offenbach on Wednesday evenings at 8:30.

"ONLY YOU CAN PREVENT FOREST FIRES!"

Brush and Timber fires in Monterey County last year scorched over 1,981 acres and caused an estimated $167,000 loss, according to the California State Division of Forestry. Drown all campfires and be sure to crush all smokes.

In the 1930's, a movie company moved some buffalo to Catalina Island. They're still roaming there, and we heard recently that one of them found a unique use for an outdoor phone booth. One of our employees was making a call from this particular booth which is located in the interior part of the island. She heard a strange noise and turned to see the buffalo scratching himself against the door. Just goes to prove that telephone booths are in convenient locations for everyone, even buffalo.

Letter To Editor

Editor,
Carmel Pine Cone

Jean van Loben Sels' inspiration to turn Sunset Center into a Juilliard-by-the-Sea strikes a most responsive chord on this taxpayers' console. It would fill a very deep West Coast need indeed. Let's get right up and at that feasibility study.

A wonderful new day would dawn for dear old Sunset.

Sincerely,
—and with a fine vibrato,—
Mary Louise Schneeberger

Editor,
Carmel Pine Cone

My wife and I are taking the liberty of writing to your paper in regards to the operation of a Carmel Community Baseball League.

We have made Carmel our summer home for two years now and enjoy the pleasant and soft mode of living that exists here.

Our sons are of baseball age, above the Little League class, and had planned on being able to play in a summer league that the realty firm said would be available to them, should we live here again this summer of 1966.

We have investigated to the best of our ability and the nearest we can come up with any information is that there is such a league throughout the summer here, which invites boys over Little League age, and is operated by an individual Carmel man. To date we are still unable to locate anything more.

Would you be kind enough to publish our letter, that it may find the management that we, and no doubt other families, are expecting to operate again.

Thanking you for the space in your paper as we anxiously await some good news.

Sincerely,
Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Malcolm

Editor's Note: May we suggest that you telephone Jack Giles, director of the Carmel Youth Center (624-3285), or Charles Dawson, recreation director for the Carmel Unified School District (624-3342).

Farr Legislation Creates New Scenic Highway In County

Legislation introduced by Senator Fred Farr (D-Carmel) to include Route 68 from Salinas to Monterey in the scenic highway system has been adopted by the legislature and signed by Governor Brown.

Senator Farr, who was responsible for the original legislation creating the state system of scenic highways, commented on this action stating: "I am especially pleased that Highway 68 from Salinas to Monterey has been added to the scenic highways system. This designation was endorsed by the Monterey County Board of Supervisors under recommendation by the advisory committee on a master plan for scenic highways and supported by the state legislature. This, of course, means that Monterey County has another highway recorded on the Scenic Highways Master Plan.

"Highway One from the Carmel River to the border of San Luis Obispo County was the first official state scenic highway. In order for Route 68 to be eligible as an official state scenic highway, we must take the necessary steps to preserve the scenic corridor. This will involve the joint cooperation of the state and Monterey County to preserve our scenic vistas for the motoring public."

CLIP AND SAVE

HELPFUL HINTS FROM PG&E HOME ECONOMISTS:

How to keep your kitchen clean without slaving at it.

To prevent foods from boiling over or burning:
Use a roomy utensil. Set your timer to remind you when to turn the heat down. For open-pan meat roasting, use a low-sided bright pan and a low temperature (325°-350°).

When baking juicy pies:
Cut the top crust half an inch larger than the pie plate, tuck under the lower crust and crimp the edge high to hold in the juice. Cut a piece of foil about two inches larger than the pie plate and place it on the lower oven rack to catch any boilover.

Clean your oven as you use it
If acid foods (milk, tomatoes, fruit) are spilled on porcelain enamel, wipe them up immediately with a dry cloth or paper towel to prevent possible discoloration.

When your range is cool, wash the porcelain with a soapy cloth, rinse and dry. A mild abrasive may be used to remove burned spots on chromium. Don't use scouring pads or other harsh abrasives on porcelain enamel—they make tiny scratches.

Don't blame gas or electricity for dirt
The dirt that accumulates on kitchen walls, ceilings and curtains comes from grease-laden steam—not from gas or electricity. So cover pots and pans while cooking and you'll keep your kitchen cleaner.

PG&E Cooking Schools
PG&E Home Economists conduct cooking schools in many communities each year. You can pick up new recipes plus tricks and shortcuts to make your kitchen hours more enjoyable — and it's free. Watch your newspaper for announcements.

PINPOINT PROFILE

Miss Emma E. Kinne, librarian, cataloger, journalist and teacher now makes her home at Forest Hill Manor in Pacific Grove.

Miss Kinne was born in Jacksonville, Florida. Since her parents were both natives of New York State it was quite natural for her and her brother, Charles, to choose Syracuse University to further their education.

After college in 1906, library school in 1909, she took off for San Francisco but only stayed a short time before setting forth for the Philippines where her brother was stationed as district engineer in the Insular Service of the U. S. Government. After four years she became head cataloger and librarian in the Bureau of Science.

Life in the Phillipines was interesting. Many trips to other Islands proved delightful.

Miss Kinne made numerous friends among the Americans there, also among the Filipino people, during her five years' residence.

In June, 1914, she sailed for home via the Suez Canal. During a visit to Berne, Switzerland, World War I broke out.

After spending anxious hours trying to get a visa in Paris, she finally arrived in London where again she had to wait for 11 days before finally gaining passage on a blacked-out ship leaving Liverpool for the United States.

Subsequently, Miss Kinne went to Washington, D. C., where she became librarian in the surgeon general's library — thence to the Air Force as cataloger and librarian.

Before her retirement, Miss Kinne spent 32 years as head cataloger and assistant librarian in the Pittsburgh Library in Pennsylvania and eventually became chief of the U. S. documents department.

One of the most satisfying events of her life was, after completing a course in lip-reading, she taught that subject to the adults in the Pittsburgh evening school.

Miss Kinne retired in 1952. In 1953, she returned to San Francisco to do volunteer work for the California Historical Society.

As a hobby, Miss Kinne enjoys writing for magazines. Her amusing verse and travel articles have been published. Another rewarding endeavor is her greeting card verses for which she finds a ready market.

She has been writing for the Forest Hill Manor's monthly bulletin, "Manor-isms," for the past few years, and has just been made editor-in-chief.

So, to quote her own words she enjoys being a printer's devil."

This past month Miss Kinne made a trip back to Syracuse University to attend a class reunion. There were 17 in all who gathered to celebrate the 60th annual get-to-gether.

All Hail, Class of 1906!

Pebble Beach Home Owners Hear About Sewage Situation

A large attendance of almost 200 members were present at the semi-annual Del Monte Forest Home Owners Association meeting at Del Monte Lodge last Thursday. Speakers were Thomson J. Hudson, Monterey County supervisor; A. G. Michaud, president of Del Monte Properties Co.; Emory Sloat, deputy state forester for the central coast district of the Division of Forestry; and Harold Laughery, senior sanitarian of the Monterey County Health Department.

Because raw sewage going into Monterey Bay from Del Monte Forest is making it unsafe for swimming activities, a sanitary district is being formed to arrange for treatment of the sewage. A collection system and disposal plant has been estimated to cost about $2.5 million but the Carmel Sanitary District and City of Pacific Grove are being contacted to consider the possibility of using their plants.

President Charles B. Kramer said an election by the property owners is planned for August to establish the district and elect directors. It has been agreed that Del Monte Properties will have two members and the home owners three on the board of directors.

Nominees are Willliam Howard Church, Col. R. W. Barton and Vice Adm. E. W. Mills for the home owners and H. H. Bein and C. E. Hall for Del Monte Properties. Should the district plans not be approved, President Kramer was of the opinion that the health department would have to erect a sewage plant that could be considerably more costly to the residents.

President Kramer said that a ten cent tax per $100 assessed valuation will be levied on property starting at once with the new fiscal year. This is for fire protection areas 42 and 43 which have united to purchase a fire truck under the supervision of the State Forestry Division.

A. G. Michaud explained the Del Monte Properties plan for one family and two to four family per acre areas and the maintaining of extensive greenbelt areas.

Federal Funds For Fish And Wild Life Projects

On July 1, federal aid funds for fish and wildlife restoration projects were distributed to the State of California. A sum of $178,500 was allocated to fish restoration projects and $696,290 to projects intended to restore wildlife, according to Stewart L. Udall, Secretary of the Interior.

Fish and wildlife restoration funds come from federal excise taxes collected from manufacturers, importers and producers of firearms, fishing rods and other types of hunting and fishing equipment.

Distribution of funds is based on the number of paid license holders in a state.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERMON

Communion will be observed in all Christian Science branch churches this Sunday. "Sacrament" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon. The service occurs twice each year, and is altered from other Sundays to include reading of the Church Tenets and a period for kneeling in silent communion. This is followed by a second repetition of the Lord's Prayer, which is an integral part of the opening for all Christian Science services.

The Golden Text this week is from Romans: "The kingdom of God is not meat and drink; but righteousness, and peace, and joy in the Holy Ghost."

Correlative passages from the denominational textbook include the following: "We know that a desire for holiness is requisite in order to gain holiness; but if we desire holiness above all else, we shall sacrifice everything for it" ("Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy).

The sixth annual All Saints' Book Fair will be held Friday from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. in the Parish Hall at Lincoln and Ninth. The annual event, sponsored by St. Bede's Library Guild, is under the chairmanship of Mrs. Joseph McEldowney and will offer a variety of books, art and travel magazines, phonograph records, sheet music, picture prints and frames.

Donations of any of these items will be welcomed and may be brought to the Parish Hall. Those wishing to have things picked up may call Mrs. Ronald Rico (624-5507) or Mrs. Karl Scherer (375-7223).

The snack bar, under the direction of Mrs. Charles Felder and Mrs. Thomas White, will offer sandwiches, coffee, tea and homemade cake from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. Mrs. Karl Scherer is in charge of decorations.

The library guild is sponsoring the event to raise funds for All Saints' Day School, York School Library, a church mission library in Kimberly, South Africa, new hymnals for the church, also to maintain the Vera Millis Memorial library.

Baby-sitting service will be available.

American Savings Ups Interest Rate

American Savings and Loan Association of California has increased its basic interest rate on all savings accounts to 5¼ percent effective July 1, S. Mark Taper, president, announces.

"It is our moral and practical obligation to our savers to be realistically competitive with the other members of the savings and loan industry in paying the highest prevailing interest rate. Thus, American Savings and Loan Association of California will pay 5¼ percent with insured safety on all savings accounts," Mr. Taper stated. "These accounts will produce a return of 5.35 percent when 5¼ percent rate is compounded quarterly on an annual basis."

In addition to its 5¼ percent basic interest rate on all accounts, American Savings also provides a bonus plan of an additional one-half percent per annum, as declared quarterly by the board of directors, for minimum $5,000 accounts maintained over a period of 36 months.

"This will mean savers taking advantage of the bonus plan can earn as much as 5¾ percent," Mr. Taper declared.

New Hunting And Fishing Regulation

A new regulation adopted June 24 by the California Fish and Game Commission requires hunters and fishermen to keep their hunting or fishing licenses in their possession while pursuing either of those sports, the State Department of Fish and Game announces.

The new regulation, which went into effect July 2 along with the 1966 hunting seasons, reads as follows: "Every person while hunting or fishing shall have a valid hunting or fishing license on his person or in his immediate possession."

The "immediate possession" phrase was included as a convenience for people like clammers or skin divers who might not want to carry their license into the water with them. If they have it in the car nearby, or in their pants pocket on the beach, it can be produced to satisfy the regulation, the department of fish and game explains.

The regulation became necessary to enforce license laws in light of recent U. S. Supreme Court decisions, the department states.

Jerome Curran

Private family mass was celebrated on July 1 at Carmel Mission Basilicia for Jerome J. Curran, who died on June 29 at Stanford Hospital, Palo Alto, after a lengthy illness. A resident of Pebble Beach for the past 15 years, he was a native of Illinois.

Mr. Curran, a retired sales manager for Owens-Illinois Glass Company, was an honorary member of the Monterey Peninsula Country Club Seniors.

He is survived by his wife, Jeanette; a daughter, Mrs. Edward J. Welsh of Pasadena; four grandchildren and two nephews.

Friends wishing to make contributions in memory of Mr. Curran may do so to the Monterey County Cancer Society, Box 1028, Monterey, or to the Community Hospital, Box HH, Carmel.

Burial took place in the Monterey Catholic Cemetery.

NEW ROTARY CLUB PRESIDENT TAKES OFFICE

On June 29, Tom Tonkin, outgoing president of Carmel Rotary Club handed over the gavel to the new president, Ed Bissantz. The transition was dramatized by Thomaf Brovvne and the very able assistance of other aspiring dramatists including Steve Saffoon, Ferrif C. Bvlefonne, Avgvft H. Johnfonne and others with similarly misspelled names, according to Thomaf's printed program.

PARTY PLANS . . .

By Phyllis Jervey

BASTILLE DAY PARTY

Now that we have celebrated the Fourth of July with picnics and fireworks on Carmel Beach, let's turn to another occasion for festivity. The Peninsula's French-speaking colony will celebrate Bastille Day on Sunday. In France it is on July 14 that everyone turns out to make the French Independence Day the greatest holiday of the year. There is street dancing and spirits soar as high as the night illuminations. Cafes are all full until dawn and much champagne is consumed. Musicians keep the dancing going full tilt. Sad for the "gendarme" who becomes too officious on this day of freedom!

It will be gay at Ring's on Sunday but on a more moderate scale. There will be singing and dancing and wine, too. The menu will be really gourmet and prepared by members of l'Alliance Francaise of the Monterey Peninsula. Aperitif hour will start at 5:30 p.m. followed by a bountiful buffet dinner served within Ring's walled patio on Abrego Street in Monterey.

Let's take a look at the menu and start anticipating the display of tempting delicacies a la francaise.

MENU A LA BASTILLE
Fete du 14 Juillet, chez Ring's cafe
Aperitifs
Hors d'oeuvres varies
Saute de Boeuf a la Parisienne
Riz Pilaf Pain Francais
Salades de Saison
Plateau de Fromages
Tartes aux Fruits
Bordeaux blanc et rouge Cafe

The varied hors d'oeuvres will consist of mammoth pitted ripe and green olives marinated in olive oil and garlic cloves for several days, then drained and served icy cold. Thinly sliced "saucisson sec" (dry sausage or salami) and drained marinated artichoke hearts are always appreciated. We give the exact recipe for "champignons a la Grecque" and "pate a la Clementine".

Champignons a la Grecque
(Serves 12)

Two lbs. fresh mushrooms (medium-size button); 1½ cups dry white wine; ½ cup olive oil; juice of 2 lemons; 2 tbsps. tomato paste; 1 tsp. coriander seeds; salt and pepper to taste; 1 tsp. bouquet garni (for maximum flavor, crush the garni before adding and use a light hand; this herb combination comes bottled.)

Wash mushrooms in cold water; trim off tip of stalks. Heat oil and throw in mushrooms; add lemon juice, white wine, coriander, tomato paste and bouquet garni with salt and pepper to taste. Cook over a quick fire without cover for 8 minutes. Chill and serve with some of the marinade. It is preferable to let the mushrooms marinate overnight.

Pate a la Clementine
(Serves 12)

One lb. chicken livers, 1 lb. unspiced fresh raw pork; 1 bay leaf; 2 garlic cloves; 2 shallots or small onions; salt, pepper and cayenne to taste; 2 white bread slices, crumbed; 2 raw fresh eggs; margarine.

Put the chicken livers and chopped pork through fine part of meat grinder three times with the garlic and onions. Add the finely crumbled bay leaf and the white crustless bread crumbs with salt and peppers to taste. Work into a smooth paste with hands. Beat eggs and add gradually, mixing with hands or wooden spoon until well blended. Grease a bread loaf tin with margarine and fill with pate mixture. Cover with double wax paper. Place tin in another tin surrounded with water and bake for an hour in a moderate oven or until pate detaches itself from the sides of the tin. Remove and allow to cool with a light weight on top. Chill and unmold at serving.

Saute de Boeuf
a la Parisienne
(Serves 12)

One lb. sliced fresh mushrooms; 2 tbsps. butter; 4 tbsps. cooking oil (more if needed); 6 tbsps. minced shallots or green onions; salt and pepper to taste; 5 lbs. filet of beef (the tenderloin butt and the tail of the filet are usually used); 1 cup dry white wine; 1½ cups good brown stock or beef bouillon; 4 tbsps. cornstarch mixed with 4 tbsps. water; 1 cup sour cream; parsley sprigs to garnish.

Saute mushrooms in hot butter and oil (4 tbsps. butter to 2 tbsps. oil) until lightly browned; stir in minced shallots or onions and cook a few minutes. Remove to side dish. Cut the fillet into slices 2 inches long and ½ inch thick. Put 4 tbsps. butter and 2 tbsps. oil in same large heavy skillet and when butter foam begins to subside, saute beef on each side and put aside in dish. Discard the sauteing fat. Pour the wine, stock or bouillon into skillet, let boil about 4 minutes, then add cornstarch mixture; mix well and simmer briefly. Add sauteed mushrooms and simmer a few minutes more. The sauce should be lightly thickened. Check carefully for seasoning, adding salt and pepper to taste. Add the beef slices to the sauce, simmering about 5 minutes, then just before serving, add sour cream. Mix and decorate with parsley and keep hot in chafing dish over hot water. Serve with Rice Pilaf which is long-grained unpolished rice steamed in chicken broth until fluffy. Onion salt adds flavor but plain salt, white pepper and butter is sufficient. Crusty French bread (unbuttered) is always "de rigueur."

The French have an interesting way of presenting their "salades" at a buffet. Instead of mixing everything into one bowl and serving it all together, they create separate platters which cause conversation pieces. There will be peeled firm tomato slices "en vinaigrette;" sliced unpeeled cucumbers; green and yellow string beans, cooked until just crisp and, of course, served well chilled and marinated in a light French dressing; beets pickled with sliced onions, chopped parsley and tarragon; a macedoine of cooked vegetables flavored with mayonnaise; wooden bowls of romaine and garden Bibb or Boston lettuce hearts, bite-sized and dressed with vinegar and oil, salt and pepper and tossed with sieved hard cooked yolk of egg called mimosa. These take the place of vegetables and with assorted imported cheese are colorful and "delicieux."

Homemade, fresh fruit tarts, black coffee and French wines complete a "diner cosmopolite."

Gala Bastille Day Celebration Sunday

Friends of the French community are invited to join in the gala celebration of Bastille Day sponsored by l'Alliance Francaise of the Monterey Peninsula at Ring's cafe in Monterey on Sunday. Aperitifs will be served at 5:30 p.m., followed by a gourmet dinner prepared by Alliance members.

Master of ceremonies will be Raymond Surdez, who will accompany Joanne Nix's French songs on the accordion. Kira Ivanovsky's talented young can-can dancers will provide more entertainment and there will be music from the "dernier cri" discs from Paris.

Chairman of the colorful event is Mrs. Russell Cadle, who is assisted by Mrs. James Hathaway, Mrs. John Dowdakin, Mrs. Henri Corbat, Mrs. David Pitfield, Mrs. Harry Peterson, Mrs. Gaspard Weiss, Clementine Herlax and Guy Jerram. Members who will contribute to the menu with homemade French specialties are Mrs. Germaine Olivie, Mrs. Henry Baron, Mrs. Sorin Isvoran, Mrs. Guy Jerram, Mrs. Leonard McCoy and Mrs. Phyllis Jervey.

Reservations may be made with Mrs. Cadle (375-9242), Mrs. Pitfield (624-9485), Mrs. Dowdakin (659-2356) or Mrs. Hathaway (372-1138). Tickets are on sale at the Swiss Jewelers Shop, San Carlos and Fifth; La Marmite, San Carlos and Seventh; and Patisserie Boissiere, Carmel Plaza.

The general committee of l'Alliance, under president Henri Corbat, met at Mrs. Jervey's home on Friday with Mrs. Cadle's Bastille Day committee to perfect final arrangements for the party with the assistance of Major Cadle.

Among those who had made reservations early this week were Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Klene, Mr. and Mrs. Bertrand d'Avenas, Mr. and Mrs. Rudolf Alt, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Herr, Mr. and Mrs. Henri Paroutaud, Mrs. Virginia Burk, Leonard Heller, Barbara Burdick Lieutenant Colonel and Mrs. Leonard McCoy and Mrs. Jerome Carlson (Jehanne Bietry Salinger), who is leaving soon to travel in Europe for three months.

Baby Beauty Show Registration Open

Registrations are now being taken for a baby beauty show, sponsored by the Knights of Pythias, Lodge 180, Monterey, as a fund raising event for the lodge's youth camp and community service programs.

There is no entry fee for the contest and awards totaling over $1,000 will be given in various classifications.

The beauty show, for tots up to six years old, will be held at the Mark Thomas Inn at 1:30 p.m. on July 17. The coronation and giving of awards will be held on July 31 at 1:30 p.m. in Pacific Grove Junior High School.

Registration for either the baby beauty show, or talent contest for children 6-13 years old, may be made at 1647 Fremont Boulevard in Seaside or by telephoning 394-5688.

New Badge For Bob

When Police Sergeant F. P. (Bob) Fischer reported for duty on the morning of July 1, he received the stripes and badge of a lieutenant from Chief Clyde Klaumann. Bob, a veteran of over 12 and one-half years' service with the force, also had to buy coffee for everyone.

With eight other members of the department, the new lieutenant has attended the police science course at Monterey Peninsula College. Bob worked the night shift in order to attend MPC for his A.A. degree in police science, also placed highest in the examination which qualified him, with his experience, for his new rank.

Stock Market Notes

By Hugh Hannon

If you want to have some fun, just ask your friendly stock broker whether he thinks the market is going up or down now; then sit back and listen to the double talk. Everybody is waiting for the rest of the Summer rally and then an attempt at 820 in the Dow Jones Averages. The questions are — in what order, when, and whether?

You might think cash in the bank looks good now; but don't forget inflation. Listen to this, "A private research group says a man with a wife and two children has to earn $13,234 annually to be able to buy the same amount of goods $5,000 would have bought in 1939."

Some of your money better be in the stock market where it can expand as fast as the price of groceries, homes, trips, etc. It is probable, or at least possible, that the next 20 years will see more inflation than the last—just remember that more and more people live into their late eighties these days. Don't get caught in your latter years by inflated costs wiping out your savings. Go see your friendly stock broker now and make some long term buys in some of these top quality stocks that pay 4 to 5%, i.e. banks, stores, casualty insurance, etc.

Incidentally, the word is that the new capital gain oriented Manhattan Fund has recently been buying American Tel. & Tel. Did you know that Standard Oil of New Jersey yields almost 5% and is down almost 30 points from its high?

Which stocks will rally the best when the market turns strong again? One large New York research says "airlines." As you know Lockheed and Boeing are competing as manufacturers of the 2,000 mile per hour SST, which will will take you across our country in two and a half hours.

"This jumbo jet will make fares so cheap for slower air travel that they'll be competing with buses.", says one expert.

Lockheed looks to be ahead now, and its plane will cost about $35 million and total sales of the plane are expected to be over $20 billion. I don't know how much $20 billion is but it must be an awful lot.

Which stocks will rally 'best? One New York Researcher thinks Lockheed is a good buy now.

LOSER PAYS DEBT

A gentleman always pays his debts and so we see Robert Engelbrecht of Tom Brown Insurance Associates, in striped vest, playing the obsequious waiter for Jon Waycott, center, winner in a contest between the two agents for extremely high life insurance sales during May. Promoter of the challenge and agency owner Tom Brown peers around Bob, while guest Harold Ober smiles his appreciation of their "garcon's" professional manner at the luncheon table at the Yankee Pantry. The loser, by the way, had to pay for the meal but was not invited to eat —he returned to his desk to dine on a sack lunch.

Winner Jon Waycott, a general and life insurance representative, resides in Carmel Valley with his wife, Sandra, and their daughter, Kelly, a student at All Saints' Day School. As a result of the May contest, Jon later was challenged by the key producer in the San Francisco office of State Life Insurance. And, if you haven't guessed already, Jon and his family will be guests of the San Francisco agency for a night on the town, with the loser dancing attendance.

Bob Engelbrecht, who turned in a performance worthy of the late actor Arthur Treacher, has been an associate of Tom Brown's almost since the establishment of the Carmel agency. He, too, makes his home in Carmel Valley where his family—wife Mary and son David—enjoy the pleasures of rural life.

Community Life Engrosses 'Bob' Faul

was Dr. Faul interested in taking on the job? He put it this way. "I liked the great potential that I saw here. I liked the idea of the challenge. MPC has an excellent faculty and this is an outstanding community."

After only two years the change is amazing. New buildings are transforming the college and new programs are expanding and increasing MPC's value to the community. New vocational and technical programs are being planned that will directly aid the economy of the Peninsula. Dr. Faul also has many programs in the planning stage, one of which is the possibility of a special operation update program for the community's senior citizens.

He knows education and California quite well. He was born in Santa Ana and attended schools in that area. While in high school, he was president of the junior class as well as being captain of the basketball team and a member of the all-conference football team. He also played on the baseball team for three years. After high school, he attended Santa Ana Junior College and played for two years on its undefeated football team. In 1938 he went to Stanford and received his B.A. in medieval history.

Shortly before World War II, "Bob" Faul went to Hawaii as a cost estimator and personnel director. During the war he also did logistics and personnel work in the Pacific. He left the service as a lieutenant commander in 1947 after being in charge of personnel operations from the Aleutians to San Diego.

After the war, he returned to Stanford and received his master's degree in guidance and counseling. He then went to Visalia College and set up this school's counseling center. After working on his doctorate at Stanford in 1948, he went on to the College of the Sequoias where he was director of guidance and counseling as well as a psychology instructor. It was there that he met his wife, Patricia.

In 1950, Dr. Faul became dean of students at Contra Costa College and president of this college in 1958. He saw the district grow from a first enrollment of 500 students to a two-college district with a student population of 16,000, before he left to come to MPC.

Along with administration, Dr. Faul has also taught numerous courses relating to personnel counseling and the junior college. He is teaching a special graduate course in junior college administration at the University of California at Berkeley for three weeks that started Monday. He is also on numerous committees dealing with higher education.

Dr. Faul has shown a deep interest also in the community in which he lives. He is presently a member of the board of directors of the Monterey Peninsula Chamber of Commerce. He is also on the boards of such diverse organizations as the Community Theatre, the Arts Co-ordinating Council, Jazz Festival, Bach Festival and Community Chest.

Possessing a unique approach to his job and his numerous activities, Dr. Faul says, "I believe in the development of human resources. I believe in the potentiality of each individual. In education and in the community we must develop this potential to the fullest."

There is little doubt that Carmel and the Monterey Peninsula have a most important resource in President Faul of MPC.

THE CHANGING FACE OF CARMEL

Since December, a parking lot at the southwest corner of Dolores and Seventh, has become the site of Carmel's Village Theatre, a 599-seat motion picture house, and Helene and Aage Knudsens' Royal Danish Bakery, which features a coffee shop.

Tom Graff is owner-operator of the new theatre. His partners are Nicholas Pecora and Ed Dickinson.

FOREST THEATER REVIEWS

The seventh annual play of the Forest Theater Society was presented Saturday and Monday evenings, and whatever one may say as to the selection of the drama, everyone is strong in the praise of the high standard of ability which was exhibited by the actors.

But the play! Why must we have tragedies—deep, heavy plots that rend and tear the emotions so that instead of the audience being a happy and uproarious one, we have a subdued and sad one, one that gives no encouragement to the actor for the very reason that there is no place for it; and the poor actor must work twice as hard to raise a sigh from his audience.

Until the Forest Theater Society discards its seeming hankering for such tragedies, the Forest Theater will be robbed of its foundation principles.

And then came "The Piper." What a joy to see this play, one of the most beautiful ever written. Handled by the clever people on the Forest Theater stage, it was a relief from the depressing play that preceded it.

And the children in "The Piper!" They were wonderful. Their spontaneous enthusiasm made us young again.

Glen Hughes has taken over the Forest Theater producing business this year and his work is to be commended. It is not easy to produce a play in Carmel. Never before has there been better music rendered. Frederick Preston Search brought that feature of the entertainments to a high standard.

DRAMA CRITICS HERE

The dramatic critic of the San Francisco Chornicle, Walter Anthony, came to Carmel to witness "Yolanda" and "The Piper." The San Francisco Call was represented by Michael Williams; the San Francisco Examiner by Redfern Mason, the San Jose Mercury Herald and Sacramento Bee by Miss Grace McFarland.

VAUDEVILLE SHOW

On Friday night, Camp Columbia boys from San Francisco will present a farce and vaudeville show at the Forest Theater. This is the show that helps the boys earn their train fare home. Better help them along. Last Friday, the boys held an exciting track meet on Ocean Avenue.

There was a unique entertainment Monday night at La Playa Hotel.

CARMEL ART SCHOOL OPENS

The third annual Carmel Summer School of Arts opens today with a large enrollment. C. P. Townsley, director, arrived from Pasadena during the past week. Pupils are registered from all parts of California and many other states. A feature of this year's session will be a course of Thursday evening art lectures by Mr. Townsley received from the American Federation of Arts in Washington, D. C. Tickets for the entire course are $2, single lectures, 50 cents.

CARMEL-BY-THE-SEA

Benjamin Fay Mills, the noted lecturer, writes as follows of our town: "In my opinion, Carmel-by-the-Sea surpasses in natural attractiveness any seashore resort in America. Mountains, bluffs, woods, dunes, beach, sand, flowers, climate the ante-American romantic aroma and the good-natured pioneers, all deserve more than superlatives . . . and the best is yet to come."

BOOK BY LOCAL AUTHORS

Grace Sartwell Mason and John Northern Hilliard of the Eighty Acres Tract have collaborated in writing "The Golden Hope," a novel of California life which catches enough of the atmosphere of the Far West to be thoroughly enjoyable to lovers of this part of the world. It is about pocket hunters in the mountains bordering Death Valley 25 years ago. Politicians, land grabbers and irrigation promoters have their own various designs on the vast areas of reclaimable land that hold great fortunes. All the riff raff that drifted out of nowhere to the frontier towns in those days is depicted.

RELIGIOUS ART SHOW

As in the past, the annual exhibit of contemporary religious art sponsored by the Church of the Wayfarer will coincide with the Bach Festival, July 16 to 24. The tenth annual event in Fellowship Hall is under the direction of Carmel artist Kathryn (Mrs. Robert) Aurner, assisted by Gordon N. Smith of the church. Host couples from the church will assist visitors each day during the exhibit which will include work by local and California artists as well as those from other states.

Entries may be submitted from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. on July 11 at Fellowship Hall. Blue Ribbon awards for outstanding work in each category will be judged by Donald Teague, Geza St. Galy and Clarence Bates. In addition, there will be a popular ballot award. Those wishing further information may call 624-3550.

Mrs. Kenneth MacPherson and Richard Rodriguez will supervise the hanging of the show.

The show will be open from 12:30 to 8 p.m. daily except Sunday, when the hours will be 10:30 a. m. to 8 p. m.

Until July 30, an exhibition of paintings by Catherine and George Seideneck will be on display at the American Federation of Arts Gallery on Lincoln south of Ocean. Both Mr. and Mrs. Seideneck have been actively associated with the development of art in Carmel for four decades. George Seideneck came to live in Carmel in 1918 and Catherine Seideneck joined him here after their marriage in 1920. Both were founding members of the Carmel Art Association in 1927 and George Seideneck served as the association's first president. For a number of years now, the Seidenecks have lived in Carmel Valley.

Yesterday afternoon, a reception honoring Catherine and George Seideneck was held at the AFA gallery.

Artist Marlinde von Ruhs has opened a studio gallery in the Talbott Building in Carmel Valley. Last Friday Miss von Ruhs greeted friends at the open house which she gave at her new quarters.

The new Brundage wing at the M. H. De Young Memorial Museum in San Francisco and a comprehensive exhibition of 19th and 20th century Latin American art will be the destinations of an American Federation of arts bus tour on Tuesday.

The Avery Brundage Collection of Asian Art, comprising some 6,000 pieces, is housed in the new wing and a large part of it went on public display in June.

The Latin American exhibition contains more than 200 works from 16 countries. Included are paintings, drawings, political caricatures, architecture, graphic art, fresco design and an actual fresco mural tracing the evolution of Latin American art since independence.

All are welcome to take the tour. Reservations may be made by telephoning the Monterey Peninsula Chapter of the American Federation of Arts.

Carmel artist Kay Rodgers will show work in various media, including landscapes and portraits, at the Carmel Foundation Town House through this month.

Miss Rodgers studied at the Pennsylvania School of Industrial Art under illustrator Thornton Oakley, water-color medalist John Dull and Herbert Pullinger. After she came to Carmel in 1941, she taught art at the Carmel U.S.O., later became an instructor in portraiture for the Carmel Adult School. Sponsored by the late Abel G. Warshawsky, internationally known Peninsula painter, she organized and scheduled his classes for many years.

A member of the Carmel Art Association, the Society of Western Artists and the Monterey County Fair Fine Arts Committee, Miss Rodgers has exhibited and won awards in this area as well as the East.

The Town House exhibit is open week days from 10 to 5 p. m.

An exhibit of the work of artists attending Richard Yip's current workshop here will be held in the AFA workshop at Sunset Center on July 14 from 6:30 to 9 p.m. Mr. Yip, internationally known watercolorist from Stockton, has held outdoor workshops on the Peninsula for a number of years, but this is the first time the public has been invited to a show of the participants' paintings.

The group, which includes local and out-of-state painters, will be working next week at Cypress Point, Carmel Mission, the Monterey Wharf and marina and other sections of the Peninsula.

"Partners in Progress" is a new exhibition of artifacts and photographs from the territory of Papua and New Guinea currently on view at the Pacific Grove Museum of Natural History. The material has not previously been shown in North America.

A special opening is planned for tonight from 7 p. m. until 10 p.m. Refreshments will be served and the public is invited. The exhibition will remain on display until July 26. Hours are 10 a.m.-5 p.m. daily except Monday. There is no admission charge.

Qantas, Australia's overseas airline, is supplying the exhibition.

TRAVEL SLIDES AT TOWN HOUSE

Colored slides of Hong Kong, Japan and Hawaii will be shown by Mrs. Roy Barton of Monterey at the Carmel Foundation Town House on Wednesday at 1:30 and 3 p.m. The photographs were taken on Mrs. Barton's recent six-week tour on the SS President Cleveland.

Everyone is welcome to the program and to tea, which will be served at 4 p. m.

Rotary Club Talk On Russian Ladies

Wednesday, President Edward Bissantz's Great Leap Forward for Carmel Rotary Club started with an outstanding talk by Mrs. Gallatin (Jehanne) Powers. Mrs. Powers told club members about her experiences with Russian women during her visits to the Soviet Union in 1960 and 1962 and the impressions of five Russian women who visited the Peninsula recently. She pointed out that Russian women's reasoning is basically the same as that of American women. For example both want a nice home and furniture, pretty clothes and will fight to the utmost to defend their children. She said Russian women think that American women sit at home on silken cushions and work their husbands to death. (Of course, some American husbands will agree with this.)

The speaker for July 13 will be Niles Pease who will give a talk on the monetary system and its relation to gold and silver.

Council Supports Admiral Fisher

Admiral Fisher urged council action to preserve this area against extension of freeways by requesting State Senator Fred Farr and Assemblyman Alan Pattee to introduce legislation to amend that section of the state code, which says freeway development of Highway One shall extend to the Carmel River, so that the code will read instead, "to terminate at the crest of Carmel Hill." He also proposed that the state code should be amended to prevent development of any more expressways, throughways and high speed highways on the Monterey Peninsula.

Such legislation was an objective of the Carmel Citizens Committee which had prepared a scale model to show the devastation which will result if Highway One is developed east of Carmel through Hatton Canyon, Admiral Fisher stated. He added that he had gained support for ending the Highway One freeway development at the top of Carmel Hill from members present at the last meeting of the Suburban Area Council, which embraces the unincorporated sections around Carmel, also Supervisor Thomson J. Hudson, who was present at the meeting.

Yesterday afternoon, Admiral Fisher said he had received further support from the president of the Monterey County Council for Conservation and Planning, members of which are large landowners of the Peninsula area. He added that he had written to the Sierra Club and the Carmel Business Association requesting similar support for his amendment to the state code.

"Only by legislation can further depredation of this area be prevented," Admiral Fisher declared.

Councilman Herbert Blanks spoke in favor of "any move" which would support Admiral Fisher's proposed legislation and pointed out how the Carmel Planning Commission, when he was a member of this body, had "fought" with the state highway commission over the "best" route for the freeway but had really had "no choice"in the matter. The state highway commission had attempted to "frighten us" by saying take the Hatton Canyon route "or else we will take off the top of Carmel Woods," Mr. Blanks stressed.

Councilman Eben Whittlesey advised preparation of a resolution to be adopted by the council next week. Such procedure would give greater formality to council action, he pointed out. Mr. Whittlesey also suggested that the resolution ask for broader legislation than just an amendment on the termination of the freeway at the top of Carmel Hill.

He then proposed that the council ask Mr. Farr and Mr. Pattee to sponsor legislation amending those appropriate sections of the state law which will give greater local option in freeway route decisions.

The council approved Mr. Whittlesey's proposal and next week will adopt a resolution to this effect which will be forwarded to Senator Farr and Assemblyman Pattee.

Hostelry Tax Vital

to cover this expenditure, and the registered voters approved these bonds, interest on this 25-year bond issue would have amounted to $190,000.

CASH-INTERIM FINANCING

In order to save this sum, the council, by the 3-2 vote, approved cash-interim loan financing for the Phase I civic center construction costs. In the city's time reserve deposits in a bank is the sum of $352,552 earning interest at 4.8 percent.

As construction bills are presented during the 1966-67 fiscal year, which started on July 1, they will have to be paid. The city could draw on its time reserves for these payments, but such procedure would diminish not only the reserves, but also the 4.8 percent interest they earn.

To protect the city against such diminishments, the council has approved yearly bank loans at a signified 2.7 percent interest to maintain the time reserves. The borrowed money will be placed in the time reserve accounts to earn 4.8 percent interest. This interest will more than cover the 2.7 interest paid on the annual loans. Money will be borrowed in July of one year and repaid in June of the successive year until Phase I costs are amortized in 1971.

Each yearly loan will be dimished by $50,000 or the half of the hostelry tax revenue which the council, in 1965, allocated for acquisition and improvement of city properties in accordance with the general plan, an allocation which applies to Phase I construction. Each year the council will budget this portion of the hostelry tax for this purpose.

During the 1966-67 fiscal year, the council will also budget $25,000, or the one-quarter of the annual hostelry tax allocated, in 1965, to the greenbelt refund, for Phase I construction costs. This sum must be replaced in the greenbelt reserve. For such replacement, the council has approved the sale of the present police station at Mission and Seventh at a price not less than its appraised value of $90,000. Should the sale be consummated, $25,000 will be replaced in the greenbelt fund and the remainder used to diminish the following year's loan from the bank. However, the sale is not mandatory to finance Phase I construction costs.

LEGAL OPINION

A city is required by law to have a legal opinion on the validity of any bond issue. For the Sunset bonds, the city council obtained such an opinion from the San Francisco legal firm of Orrick, Dahlquist, Herrington and Sutcliffe, considered top experts in municipal financing on the West Coast.

The council submitted the Phase I loan and repayment procedure—cash-interim loan financing — to the same firm. Below is the letter approving this financing signed by George Herrington, senior partner of the firm, and addressed to City Administrator Hugh Bayless.

"Confirming our recent conference, I am satisfied that the method of financing the construction of the new Police-Public Works Building as more particularly outlined in your letter of April 25 is entirely satisfactory from a legal as well as from a very practical standpoint. In other words, the City has for all practical purposes cash on hand or to be received in the next fiscal year—in which the liability for the cost of construction of the building will actually be incurred. This includes not only the money actually on hand, but also the estimated proceeds of the sale of the existing police station site. While it is true that the depletion of the cash reserve is not desirable from many standpoints, nevertheless the City is in a position to borrow moneys commencing July 1, 1966, on tax anticipation notes. It may continue this practice until such time as the cash reserve is bulit back up to a satisfactory balance."

PERILS

By allocating hostelry tax revenue to pay for the purchase of Sunset Center with a general obligation bond issue, also similar allocation to finance cash-interim loans for construction of a new police station, corporation yard and public works building, the city council is depending on continued prosperity of the hostelry industry.

Should, for some reason, the hostelry tax fail to provide sufficient funds to amortize the Sunset bonds, needed money to amortize what remained of the $848,687.50 not provided by hostelry tax revenue would be raised by taxing property owners, as the Sunset bonds are general obligation bonds.

Should, for the same reason, the hostelry tax fail to provide funds to amortize the cash-interim loans for Phase I construction, the city council could decide to lengthen the repayment term by borrowing less each year, but still use lesser hostelry tax income to finance the construction.

However, the cash-interim loan financing requires yearly approval of the city council. Therefore, a future city council could, although it is unlikely, refuse to continue this method of financing and use up the city's reserve funds to pay Phase I construction costs. If such procedure were approved by any future council, the city would then be without reserve funds which is bad municipal financing. If, concurrently, the hostelry tax were considerably diminished, or lost, the city would be in a bad position to replace its reserves and as a last resort, might tax property owners.

The peril of both the Sunset Center purchase by general obligation bonds, also the cash-interim loan financing of Phase I construction, is any future serious diminishment, from any cause, of revenue to the city from the four percent tax on overnight accommodations within the city.

LITTLE LEAGUE ENDS SEASON SATURDAY

Carmel Little League closing ceremonies will be held Saturday at 12:30, followed by a game with Carmel Valley Little League. The minor league play-off game will take place in the morning.

This year, Carmel will play host to the Little League All-Star series between six teams in the area.

Median Island Signs Must Go Off Ocean Avenue

The city council, last night, upheld its 1963 decision that all directional signs, other than those regulating traffic, must be removed from the median islands on Ocean Avenue; took action permitting payment of outstanding bills in connection with construction of the new police station, corporation yard and public works building; gave first reading to an ordinance controlling the amount of waste water discharged on city streets; approved one-hour parking on Dolores between Seventh and Eighth; and then turned its attention to a proposed new ordinance controlling the cutting of trees.

The action requiring the removal of all existing directional signs in the Ocean Avenue median islands was based on adoption of a report from the planning commission and a legal opinion from City Attorney William Burleigh. Both indicated that all existing church and other signs must be removed or similar organizations allowed the same privilege.

By a 3-2 vote, Mayor Stephen Grant and Councilmen Eben Whittlesey and Herbert Blanks voting affirmatively, sufficient funds were transferred from the capital outlay hostelry tax fund (allocated by the council in 1965 for capital outlay expenditures in accordance with the general plan) to the general fund in order to pay Burde, Shaw Associates $4,775.92, a partial payment for architectural services on the new police station and public works development; also $5,500 to Granite Construction for excavating and grading the site of the same development.

Funds totaling $73,964 were transferred from the motor vehicle license fund, the traffic safety fund and the gas tax fund to the general fund as a routine end of the fiscal year move.

First reading was given to an ordinance which prohibits regular discharge of waste water in excess of two gallons per hour into streets, sidewalks, storm drains or other public property without first obtaining a permit from the superintendent of public works. The ordinance also provides that waste water from swimming pools must be discharged according to regulations of the Carmel Sanitary District.

Installation of one-hour parking on both sides of Dolores Street between Seventh and Eighth avenues was favored, also a two-hour parking limit on the south side of Seventh between Dolores and Lincoln. A resolution authorizing those two time-limit parking items will be acted upon at the next regular meeting of the council on August 3. The new limits were considered at the request of merchants and owners of property facing the two streets.

Considerable time was devoted to studying a new ordinance controlling the cutting of trees. It was referred to the forestry commission for study and report to the council with the provision that immediate attention be given to the sections which control the cutting and trimming of trees which grow half on private property and half on city land. Permission either by the city or the property owner must be given before parties involved may cut or trim trees so situated.

The council also approved employment of Clyde R. Klaumann as a summer police officer and Roberta Weller as administrative staff secretary. The regular employment status of City Administrator Hugh Bayless and Fire Engineer Robert A. Updike was approved; also advancement on the salary scale for Doris F. Clement, Robert A. Updike and Lester V. Fletcher.
